Statewide Information Services

Mission

How to get help and give help regarding families and children in Idaho.

Assessment

Tool Purpose

To assist in the coordination of statewide and local information and referral services so that every community has the opportunity to easily access information.

Current Information Services

Idaho CareLine

Connecting People with Services

The Idaho CareLine provides Idahoans with a statewide toll-free, bilingual telephone line that connects callers to health and human services they may need. The Idaho CareLine finds help for callers from among the thousands of agencies, support groups and programs available across the state. Provided through the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, the Idaho CareLine is a statewide information and referral service and uses a database of more than 3,900 health and human service providers. The Idaho CareLine links people to providers of services such as prenatal care, immunizations, adolescent pregnancy prevention, child development information, services for the elderly, and more!

211 Idaho

Your Community Connection

211 Idaho is being developed as a single telephone and Internet source of information for community-based health and human services. Mountain States Group, Saint Alphonsus Regional Medical Center, the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, and the United Way of Treasure Valley are working to implement this project that will serve as a more community-based information and referral system. Because the Idaho CareLine and 211 share common issues and key goals, collaboration is under way to achieve even greater efficiency and to create an even more comprehensive health and human service information referral system for Idaho. To learn more about 211 Idaho, visit its web site at www.211idaho.com.

Early Childhood Information Clearinghouse

Brighter Futures for Idaho's Kids

The bilingual Early Childhood Information Clearinghouse is a web site that provides a single information access point for parents and caregivers of young children. The focus is on a child's first three years of life. The website provides information on active parenting, childcare, early learning, health and wellness, immunizations, protecting children, and special needs, among many other topics. To find the Clearinghouse go to www.idahochild.org and look for the blue and yellow Brighter Futures for Idaho's Kids logo. If you don't have access to a computer, call the Idaho Careline at 800-926-2588.

E-Newsletter

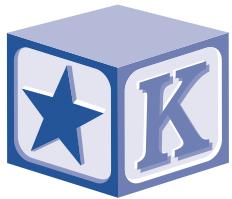

Helping Idahoans become more informed and knowledgeable of family and children issues.

The Governor's Coordinating Council for Families and Children E-Newsletter serves as a clearinghouse of information for local communities. It is a mechanism for communities, regions and people across the state to communicate, network and collaborate instantly about issues and events that affect Idaho's families and children. More than 450 Idaho recipients use the E-Newsletter to access information about what is happening in the state and in their communities. Weekly submissions from individuals and organizations are accepted by the Governor's Council and are distributed via the newsletter. A key benefit of the E-Newsletter is its ability to link recipients with other websites. By linking with "Access Idaho's" website, Idahoans can communicate quickly and easily at any level of government. To receive the E-Newsletter, contact gcc@hornsales.com.

Idaho's Generation of the Child Publication

A comprehensive inventory of state resources and programs serving families and children in Idaho.

In 2002, the Office of the Governor released "Idaho's Generation of the Child" publication that highlights progress being made to ensure Idaho is the best place to raise healthy, happy and well-educated children. This publication lists numerous programs and initiatives across the state that are working to benefit Idaho's "Generation of the Child"—programs that provide a continuum of care for infants to seniors. Please download a copy of this wonderful resource for Idaho today at www2.state.id.us/firstlady/council.htm..

Tell Us What You Think

Help us assess the availability of information in your area. Let us know what services and resources are most needed and useful to serve the children and families in your area.

What agencies or organization deal directly with issues regarding families and children in your community?

What services are not available in your part of the state that would benefit families and children?

How can existing services work together for a more concentrated result in your area?

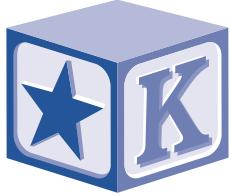

What are the pressing needs and gaps in communication for your community?

Were you aware of the existing resources listed?

What is the most useful format for your community to receive and share information? (e.g., Internet web site, newsletter, newspaper, telephone, public meeting, publication, directory, etc.)

Please send your responses to Blossom Johnston at bjohnston@gov.state.id.us or fax to 208-334-3454.
